Thank you for your IMPACT on liberal education in the 21st century. The IU School of Liberal Arts at IUPUI is grateful to the over 1200 individuals, corporations and foundations listed below for their generous support of its mission. Their combined giving totals over $1.2 million, impacting our ability to create new knowledge through research that involves both undergraduate and graduate students, teach through community-focused practices, and provide internships and opportunities for the School of Liberal Arts comes from a variety of sources. It is important to note that about 21% derives from state appropriations, with most coming from student tuition and fees. Additionally, in 2009, Liberal Arts faculty generated $6,175,554 in external research funding from grants and contracts.

Dean's Council
Annual contributions to the IU School of Liberal Arts at IUPUI of $500 or more are recognized through the Dean's Council. These individuals, along with gifts supporting the Emerging Scholars Program and endowments that facilitate the Liberal Arts' mission to provide higher education of the highest quality, are invited to an annual celebration is supported with gifts to the Dean's Priorities Fund.

Tributes
In 2009, gifts to the school for American Thought Fund supported the Robert C. & Linda A. Hannah Undergraduate Research Program. Other required internships, those that go beyond the classroom, creating the well-rounded education that students demand.

Consecutive Annual Donors 2006-2009
We are grateful to those who have supported programs in the liberal arts for both of the past ten years.

The Joseph T. Taylor Heritage Society
The Joseph T. Taylor Heritage Society recognizes those who have made planned gifts or commitments to benefit the IU School of Liberal Arts at IUPUI through a variety of gifts within the scope of the School. These gifts, whether gifts of cash, securities, annuities, bequests, or other planned gifts, will enable the School to continue to enrich students' lives and provide more vibrant programs.
