English for Academic Purposes Program

The English for Academic Purposes (EAP) Program is part of the English Department in the Indiana University School of Liberal Arts at IUPUI. The EAP Program is designed to provide the language support and assistance that undergraduate and graduate students need to fully participate and succeed in their respective fields.

High-intermediate and advanced EAP courses are offered both to students entering the university in degree programs as well as non-degree students who are interested in enhancing their English language skills. EAP courses are small in order to allow maximum student-teacher interaction in a student-centered communicative teaching approach. Individual attention and conferences are provided as the need arises.

By IUPUI policy, most international students must take the EAP Placement Test prior to registration for classes even if the TOEFL test has been taken. The student's letter of admission from the Office of International Affairs will indicate if s/he is required to take this test. Because this is a placement test used to accurately determine English language skill level, students do not need to "prepare" for it. The scores are used to assign EAP classes that best meet students' academic needs that will provide favorable English experiences necessary for a successful career at IUPUI.

IUPUI EAP Program Undergraduate Course Sequence

EAP classes are small, ranging in size from five to twenty students and are taught by trained and experienced teachers using interactive, communicative teaching styles. The classes focus on the academic English skills students need to be successful at the university level. Special emphasis is given to teaching advanced listening, speaking and reading skills, as well as complex English grammatical forms and structures, and academic composition.

Level I: Due to limited language proficiency, students at this level are generally restricted to taking only EAP, physical education, and one mathematics or computer science course.

- ENG G009: Intermediate Aural/Oral Skills for ESL Students (2cr)
Focuses on academic listening and speaking skills.
- ENG G010: ESL for Academic Purposes I (4 cr) Focuses on reading, writing, and grammar.

Level II: At this level, students generally take three EAP classes, but sometimes only one/two plus two freshman-level content courses. Courses requiring extensive reading and writing should be avoided. These courses can be taken over two semesters. If students are placed in all four courses at this level, they must first complete G111, G114, and W130 before taking G112. If they are not required to take W130, then they may register for G111, G114, and G112 in the same semester. The progression of courses should be G111, G114, W130, and then G112. We do not recommend taking all four courses during the same semester.

- ENG G111: Academic English Reading: Perspectives on Culture/Society (3 cr)
Focuses on academic reading. Usually must be taken before or concurrently with W130.
- ENG G114: EAP Grammar (1 cr) Focuses on grammar structures. A co-requisite of G111.
- ENG W130: Principles of Composition (3 cr) Same curricular goals as the non-EAP sections, but focusing on the specific language needs of EAP students. Must be taken with or after G111/G114 unless exempted by the EAP program.
- ENG G112: Listening and Speaking for Academic Purposes (3 cr) Focuses on academic listening and speaking skills, including understanding lectures, note taking, presentations, group discussions.

Level III: At this level, students are capable of taking a full academic load of classes, although courses should probably be restricted to general, freshman-level courses.

- ENG W131: Reading, Writing, and Inquiry I (3 cr) MUST BE EAP DESIGNATED SECTIONS. Similar curricular goals as the non-EAP sections, but focusing on the specific language needs of EAP students. Meets IUPUI graduation requirements.

Important Considerations for EAP courses

ENG G009 and ENG G010 are co-requisites and must be taken together.

ENG G111 and ENG G114 are co-requisites and must be taken together.

ENG G111/G114 and ENG W130 may be taken together (this is encouraged). However, if only one is possible for the semester, it should be ENG G111/G114 first, and then ENG W130 the next semester.

ENG G112 and ENG W131 may be taken together. However, if only one is possible, it should be ENG G112 first, and then ENG W131, the next semester.

If a student wants to take only one EAP course per semester after ENG G009 & ENG G010 and ENG G111 & G114, the order should be, ENG W130, ENG G112, ENG W131 (EAP section).

If a student needs ENG G111/G114 but does NOT need to take ENG W130 (i.e. a final score of 10), they can take ENG G111/G114 and W131 together.

“G” courses do not require authorization.

EAP sections of ENG W130 and ENG W131 do require authorization from the EAP office. The phone number is 274-2188. You must have the specific section number when calling for authorization.

The EAP program has the final say on which classes students are expected to take and in what sequence. Students questioning their placement should be directed to the EAP program office.

COMM C180	History	SCI-I 120 (unless in W131)

NOTE:

1. Students who place directly into ENG W131 can consider the above courses their first semester if advised about expectations, particularly if they have experience with or high motivation towards a specific discipline. However, completion of W131 first would always be best.
2. This is a guide and students are not bound by it
3. Some of these classes may not count towards students’ major requirements or graduation

*EAP Students are defined as non-native speakers of English who have been placed into EAP classes based on the EAP Placement Test. EAP classes include ENG G009/G010, ENG G111, ENG G114, ENG G112, and ENG W130. Students may also be placed into EAP sections of ENG W131. Students who take ENG W130 and/or who are placed into EAP W131 must take the EAP sections of ENG W131. (The Writing Program will require EAP students in their W131 sections to withdraw and reregister for an EAP section of W131.)
