Dear Agenda Council Members:

What follows is the final report of the SLA Undergraduate Curriculum Committee for AY 2004-05. The committee was comprised of the following members: Enrica Ardemagni, Department of World Languages and Cultures; Tom Davis, Department of Religious Studies; Julie Freeman, Department of English; Gina Sanchez-Gibau, Department of Anthropology; and Richard Gunderman, Department of Philosophy. Catherine Souch, Associate Dean for Academic Affairs served ex officio.

The Committee met six times during AY 2004-2005. In addition, two meetings were conducted electronically. The Committee received 24 new course proposals; of these, 17 were approved. It should be noted that these are counts of submissions, rather than courses, as in several instances the same course was submitted more than once.

Nineteen requests for approval of variable subtitle courses were received; of these, 14 were approved. In addition, one academic program (a major in International Studies) was considered, and approved. It awaits final approval by the Faculty Assembly. If you need any more information, or have any questions concerning the Committee’s work, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

William Gronfein
Chair-SLA Curriculum Committee
