JESUS WAS A MOONWALKER
A DOCUMENTARY FILM

A documentary short exploring religious content in contemporary art

“While being distracted by the loud, explicit, train wreck of regurgitated culture that is postmodernism, have we missed something in the art world? After millennia of being dominated by religious imagery, the art world is now discussing everything but. Jesus Was A Moonwalker (2012) is a documentary featuring interviews with historians, critics, curators and artists about the qualms of including religious content in the contemporary art scene.”
