Find Your Meaning—Announcing 100% Online BA in Religious Studies

What is the meaning of the life in the face of suffering? The coronavirus pandemic reminds us that like all those who came before us, we have limited control over what happens in the world. But we do have control over how we react. Do we embrace the way of compassion, love, justice, and peace, or do we turn to anger, blame, despair, and hatred? The need to understand why and how some human beings choose one path over another has never been more important to our own well-being and the future of our society.

As a student in IUPUI’s 100% online BA in religious studies, you will discover your own answers to those questions by studying the world’s many religious traditions. You will learn from some of the best scholars of religion in America—our classes are taught by full-time faculty who earned their doctorates at universities such as Princeton, Yale, Duke, Rice, and the University of Chicago. You will have our undivided attention as we discover what it means to be human together.

Ready to apply to IUPUI? Here’s what you need to know: https://admissions.iupui.edu/apply/index.html

Interested in just taking a few courses with us? Apply here: https://admissions.iupui.edu/apply/second-degree-and-visiting.html

Want to declare your religious studies major? Here’s how: https://liberalarts.iupui.edu/admissions/update-major-form.html